

Cameras Record Reject Booth Plan, Crime and Slaying Ask Him to Retire Of the Criminal

Spectacular But Unsuccessful Attempt Made to Assassinate Construction Company Head, Whose Father Killed Assassin—News-Photographers Watch Tragedy—Police Act on Tip by Conspirators.

Detroit, Jan. 10 (AP).—A crime that cameras captured was committed in suburban Wyandotte last night when a gunman was slain and an officer critically wounded during a spectacular, but unsuccessful, attempt to assassinate Ralph A. Wood, head of the Wood Construction Company.

Newspapermen and photographers, informed with police that an effort was to be made upon Wood's life, were hidden with officers about the construction company chief's office when the attempted assault took place. They saw a man advance upon Wood with upraised blackjack, and they saw Wood and one of the officers fire almost simultaneously, dropping the attacker.

Less than an hour later Wood's estranged wife, Grace, 48 years old, was arrested. She was found ill in bed at her home and was taken to the city detention hospital. Officers sought to question her concerning the story of one of the plotters that she had instigated the attempt on her husband's life so that she might inherit his estate, said to be large, and become beneficiary of a $100,000 life insurance policy.

Early today Taylor Pierce and William Thompson, each 22 years old, were arrested as the two who escaped during the gun battle between police and Wood's assassins. Shortly afterward their automobile was found, marked with many bullet holes.

They said the dead man was Ambrose Haggerty.

Told Police of Plot. Police learning of the plot through Cecil Holt, one of the conspirators, who told Roy Smith, chief of police of Riverview, a Detroit suburb, that Mrs. Wood had paid a premium on his $125,000 insurance policy in return for his promise to assist in the plot.

The plan, Holt said, was to lure Wood to the doorway of his office, beat him into unconsciousness, carry him to an isolated spot and kill him. They were to leave the body, with narcotics stuffed in his pockets, so police, when they found it, might think Wood had been killed as a result of a dope feud.

Police of Detroit, Riverview and Wyandotte, deputy sheriffs, state police and newspapermen surrounded the isolated frame structure which houses the construction company of offices late yesterday afternoon to await the coming of the conspirators.

Victim Called to Office Door.

At 10 o'clock two men crept through the heavy shrubbery in front of the office building. One, Haggerty, hid behind an ornamental urn beside the office door. The other was Holt, who in accordance with the plot, stepped to the door and called Wood.

As Wood stepped onto the porch the concealed man leaped toward him with lifted blackjack. At the same instant Wood, who has but one arm, fired. Haggerty fell dead.

As the shot sounded a car, occupied by two men, drove to the walk leading to the office and its occupants opened fire upon the group on the porch.

Immediately a fusillade of shots burst from the shadowy shrubbery and the car, with windshield shattered, sped away.

Mrs. Wood in Bed, Dressed.

Mrs. Wood was in bed when state police entered her home. She said she was ill with influenza but she was almost completely dressed and the officers took her to the hospital for examination. Physicians there permitted her to be taken to police headquarters for questioning.

The involved chain of motives, ascribed by police to Mrs. Wood, was tangled even more as details of the Woods' domestic difficulties came to light. Wood had filed suit for divorce but Tuesday ordered the suit withdrawn.

Police said he had settled $30,000 cash, two large houses and 12 other pieces of city property on Mrs. Wood pending outcome of the divorce action. She was reported to have demanded more.

Liquor Ship Case in Court.

Philip Elting, Collector of Customs at the Port of New York, and the Coast Guard were ordered Wednesday by Federal Judge Coleman either to file a libel within ten days against the Canadian auxiliary schooner James B., or to release the vessel and its $200,000 cargo of liquor. The craft was seized on December 12, twenty-four miles off shore.

Salvation Army High Council Members Cannot Recover Sufficiently to Resume Labors Under Which He Has Broken Down.

Sunbury-on-Thames, England, Jan. 10 (AP).—The high council of the Salvation Army adjourned late today until Saturday morning to give seven members appointed to wait on General Bramwell Booth cameras captured was committed in suburban Wyandotte last night when a gunman was slain and an officer critically wounded during a spectacular, but unsuccessful, attempt to assassinate Ralph A. Wood, head of the Wood Construction Company.

At the same time it was made clear that in retirement he would retain his title of general and continue to enjoy the honor and dignities attached to it.

The resolution was made public in a communiqué issued from Sunbury Court this morning. It was adopted after the Council had considered a letter which had been received from the head of the Army. The text of this was not given out, but it is understood that in it, the General asked the High Council to appoint a commission to act for him until his recovery.

The Council's reply was a rejection of this proposal, saying that it was improbable that at his age he would recover sufficiently to resume the labors under which he had broken down. A deputation was named by the Council to visit the General at his seaside retreat to put the retirement suggestion before him.

Official Statement on Day's Development.

The official statement issued from Sunbury Court on today's development was as follows:

"The Council resumed its sitting this morning and after the usual opening services proceeded at once to consider business in connection with a letter of January 6 received from the General. As a result of the deliberations following reception of this letter, the Council resolved to communicate with the General and submit to him the following resolution which was passed by the Council without a dissenting vote:

"The council desires to place on record its high appreciation of the life and labors of the general and joins with him in gratitude to God for his partial restoration to health and expresses the hope that this improvement may be maintained.

Council Wants His Cooperation.

"The council being, however, unable to see the practicability of the suggestion made by the general and realizing that it is most unlikely that at the general's advanced age he can ever recover sufficiently again to take up the burdens under which he collapsed, takes the opportunity of requesting him to cooperate with the council in securing the future welfare of the Army and to that end it resolves that, the general being, as his doctors assure us, capable of considering important questions and giving decisions thereon, the president, vice-presidents and five members of the high council be deputed to see the general and suggest that he should now retire from office, retaining his title of general and continuing to enjoy the honor and dignities attached thereto."

First Heavy Snow of Season

The first snowfall of the season which made necessary the use of the snow removal equipment fell during Wednesday night and this morning some three inches of heavy snow greeted the early riser. Snow shovels were popular tools of equipment and those who were about early found going heavy. During the early morning the temperature, which continued to mount caused the snow to turn to rain. The city snow removal equipment was put in operation on the main thoroughfares and those who were out early found footing best in the wake of the snow plow until sidewalks were cleared later in the day.

SALVATION ARMY WARNS OF FAKE SOLICITORS

The rummage sale being conducted by the Salvation Army in the store corner of Broadway and Ferry street is attracting much attention. People generally of the city have shown a disposition to help along the sale by contributing from their attics and store rooms such articles of clothing, furniture, pictures, etc., as they have no further use for. All those who so desire to assist are asked to call Ensign Van Skieles at Kingston 1303, and he will call personally or will send one of his lieutenants for such articles.

Ensign Van Skieles sounds a note of warning to the charitably inclined of the city, when he advises that nothing be given to the Salvation Army without first calling him on the telephone. He has been told that some individuals have been soliciting from door to door for discarded clothing or such things as they may secure. These solicitors have no connection with the local corps of the Salvation Army, and to the end that no one be imposed upon and that due credit be given locally to all who assist in the sale, no under way, Ensign Van Skieles asks that he be called on the telephone by those who have articles to give, and states that he will very quickly call for them.

The sale at Broadway and Ferry street will continue until the end of next week. The proceeds will be used in carrying on the work of the Salvation Army in Kingston.

Rockefeller Out To Defeat Stewart

Millionaire Seeks Proxies of Standard Oil Company of Indiana Stockholders in Order to Prevent Re-election of Stewart as Company Chairman.

New York, Jan. 10 (AP).—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has sent letters to stockholders of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana seeking their proxies for the annual meeting of the company in March to oppose the re-election of Robert W. Stewart as chairman of the company. It was learned today.

Rockefeller requested the resignation of Stewart after he was charged with perjury in connection with his statements to the Senate Teapot Dome committee. Stewart declined to resign. He was acquitted of the charge on November 20.

In his letter to stockholders, Rockefeller, who is a large stockholder in the Standard of Indiana, outlines his reason to Stewart which sought his resignation last year, and adds "definite assurances have already been given me by stockholders representing a substantial amount of stock of the company that they are opposed to Colonel Stewart's re-election."

"If this is your position," the letter continues, "please send the enclosed proxy to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Winthrop W. Aldrich or William Roberts."

Rockefeller indicated that he did not seek other changes in the management of the company.

"Under the loyal and devoted leadership of the president of the company, Mr. E. G. Seibert," he stated, "who has been with the company over 30 years, backed by the whole-hearted support of other members of the board, most of whom have also been connected with the company for many years, the interests of the company will be fully protected and its business well handled without Colonel Stewart."

Announcement has been made by the L. B. Van Wagenen Company located at 311 Wall street of a big store-wide rebuilding sale and as soon as the stock of the store has been reduced building operations will be begun toward making the store one of the most modern department stores in this vicinity. The store which is one of the Ross Stores, Inc., chain will be entirely remodeled and enlarged to make room for additional departments which will be added. Increased business has made necessary more floor space, and the addition of several departments to make the store a complete department store will require a large addition at the rear of the store facing Crown street.

Rebuilding operations will commence as soon as the present stock of merchandise is reduced. Announcement of this rebuilding sale is made in this issue of The Freeman.

Plans which have been under way for some time and which now have been completed call for a remodeling of the entire front of the store. A new front of the deep vestibule type will be installed giving considerably more street display space with two entrances and a center display space between the entrances. The two upper floors will also be remodeled and large windows will replace the present small windows on the two upper floors. These windows will give additional display on the two upper floors.

Extend Store 40 Feet

At the rear of the store, on the Van-Ross Hotel property which was acquired some time ago by the company, the old barn will be razed and the store extended out for some forty feet toward Crown street.

Entrances will be placed in this new part of the building and although it will not extend to the Crown street building line it will give considerable show space, especially for patrons of the bus terminal which is at the rear of the store. The bus terminal grounds will be somewhat enlarged through additional space afforded by the removal of the old barn and livestock stables which have outlived their usefulness in this age of motor cars.

In the store there will be a complete rearrangement of stocks. New fixtures will be installed in all departments and there will be a modern rapid pneumatic cash carrier system installed.

Rest rooms will be installed for customers and there will be rest rooms and lunch room facilities for employees.

Contemplated in the improvements is the entire modernizing of the interior of the store in every detail of structure and equipment.

Change in Merchandising Policy.

A change in merchandising policy is also announced by the L. B. Van Wagenen Company which will go into effect when the store is completed. Higher priced grades are to be added to the price ranges in some lines, new departments will be added and only standard brands of merchandise of first quality will be featured in the regular stocks.

This plan for improvement of the L. B. Van Wagenen Company is in accord with a new policy recently adopted by the management of the Corporation of which the L. B. Van Wagenen Company is a member. Under this new policy only larger and thoroughly modern stores featuring established brands of merchandise will be added to the chain and in harmony with which plans, 371 tons.

Jury Ignores Pleas That "Powwow" Doctor Was Insane—Decides He Was Guilty of Premeditated Murder and Should Be Sentenced to Life Imprisonment.

York, Pa., Jan. 10 (AP).—Separate trials for John Curry and Wilbert G. Hess, youthful accomplices of John H. Blymyer in the "hex" slaying of Nelson D. Rehmyer, were granted at the opening of court today by Judge Ray H. Sherwood, and Curry was placed on trial.

Blymyer, 34-year-old "Powwow" doctor, and alleged principal in the slaying of Nelson D. Rehmyer, reclusive farmer, who he believed had bewitched him, was found guilty of murder in the first degree last night with a recommendation of mercy. This automatically carries a sentence of life imprisonment.

The trio wanted the lock of hair, it was testified, to bury deep in the ground so that a spell over the Hess family would be broken. Rehmyer himself was a "hex" doctor.

The jury reached its verdict in one hour and thirty-one minutes, the jurors told the court they had decided that Blymyer was guilty of premeditated murder and should be sentenced to life imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary at Philadelphia.

In doing so, they ignored the plea of the defense that Blymyer was insane. Blymyer's counsel had presented evidence in an effort to show that the reputed witch doctor was so mentally unbalanced that he believed he was doing the right thing in killing Rehmyer, that he would slay anyone who he believed had him "hexed."

Blymyer received the verdict calmly. He did not show any emotion other than biting his finger nails. As he was being returned to the county jail he said: "It was pretty severe, but I'm happy; I can still live. The spell is broken. I can eat and sleep in peace now."

Communities Proud of Stores. It is the purpose of the company to make its stores in every community institutions that the community can be proud of and in which the public can shop with comfort and confidence in the brand of merchandise sold.

Building operations will commence as soon as the stock is reduced, as all plans have been completed and the officers are ready to commence work as soon as possible.

The store will be closed Friday all day to arrange stocks and mark goods and the sale will open at 9 o'clock Saturday.

Moses Asks Early Vote on Treaty

Washington, Jan. 10 (AP).—An understanding for an early vote on the Kellogg Anti-War Treaty was asked in the Senate today by Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, who has led the fight for an interpretative resolution to accompany ratification of the pact.

The more for settlement of the difference of opinion among Senators, heretofore handled in off-the-floor conferences, was broached openly in the Senate when debate on the pact began to lag. Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee, who is sponsoring the treaty, replied that he would be glad to consider the suggestion of Moses for an agreement.

Thus far Borah has steadfastly rejected all proposals for a compromise on an interpretation of the pact and on Tuesday night broke off all negotiations to that end.

Pending a renewal of the negotiations proposed by Moses the Senate went ahead with debate. Senator Bradley, Democrat, of Kentucky taking the floor. At the outset Borah assured Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, that he did not consider that the treaty would preclude "any nation from seeking any readjustment of its boundaries so long as it is undertaken by peaceful methods."

In an effort to speed up debate the Senate met an hour earlier today and an immediate vote appeared imminent on Senator Moses' suggestion, but it was deferred when Senator Barkley asked to deliver the speech he had prepared. He endorsed the treaty but expressed disappointment that Secretary Kellogg had not said "just a little more" in explanation of the position America takes in adhering to the pact.

WHEN fattening sweets tempt and you dread extra weight, light a Lucky instead. No discomfort, no trouble—just a common sense method of retaining a slender figure.

The finest tobaccos are skillfully blended to make Lucky Strike. Then, "It's Toasted." This secret process brings out every essence in the tobaccos and produces a flavor which makes Lucky Strike a delightful alternative when you crave fattening sweets—there is no interference with a natural appetite for healthful foods. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

At the same time toasting removes impurities. That's why 20,679 physicians are on record that Lucky Strike is less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why prominent athletes have testified that Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition. No wonder that this was discovered long ago by many men, who pride themselves on keeping trim and fit, who love the "pep" that comes with health and vigor.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

"It's toasted"

Velvets, Chiffons,
for Chic DressesDainty Frocks Are Provided for Dances and Mid-Winter Parties.

This is indeed a happy day for the tall slender woman with red hair and sea-green eyes, writes Lucy Park, in the Detroit Free Press.

It is equally auspicious for her sister with the camellia skin and dusty cheeks. Or for the petite blonde with the rounded figure and eyes of blue.

For fashion, third of uniformity, has gone decidedly individualistic. And the mode, especially for evening, is now designed to enhance, rather than conceal, the best attributes of the wearer.

But right here—a word of warning! Be sure you know your type. We all know the sad story of the clown who longs to play Hamlet, or vivacious comedienne who feels that she should have been cast as Lady Macbeth.

So each one of us, deep down, is apt to have a mental picture of her type which is slightly at variance with the cold facts. Perhaps it is a positive profile which misleads. Perhaps some one, once upon a time, commented upon a likeness to Duse or Greta Garbo. Perhaps we have been told at an impressionable age that we look well in green.

Little things like this go to make up a vision which we long to be and strive to dress to. But with fashion so carefully planned as they are today for the tall and the short, the dark and the fair, the languid and the vivacious, it's much better to sit down before the mirror and take honest stock, rather than run the chance of being dressed for the wrong role and looking slightly miscast.

On the whole, things were never better for the woman who possesses the clothes instinct.

Variety of Color.

There is such a variety of color, of fabric and line. Surely she may look as though her costume were especially designed for her—as in fact it was.

For the sophisticated young matron there are lovely trailing things of chiffon, of tulle and of transparent velvet. Frocks which sheath the body in the new princess line, which differs so widely from the gored, tucked and clipped-in predecessor of that name.

She may load her arms with bracelets which represent a king's ransom, and loop about her throat a triple strand of pearls.

A fun, new and exotic, of the fabric of her gown, with jeweled sticks, lends charm to her conversation.

Slippers as gorgeously beautiful as those worn by the queens of the Renaissance decorate her slender feet. She is a study in the new art of dress, which has become rich and opulent, as befits the foremost nation in the world.

If she is picturesque, she will affect one of the new period frocks, which have discarded quaintness in favor of

The original model was in white tulle, the graceful curving lines of a butterfly forming a shimmering cascade of sequins and tiny aquamarines.

The lines of the embroidery curve low in the back closely holding the hips, and from beneath them come long trailing draperies of the chiffon, almost touching the floor, peacock fashion, lending distinction to the silhouette.

This is the ideal frock for a young matron, for it has dignity and distinction as well as beauty of line and fabric.

It is very attractive also in the palest shade of rose flesh chiffon, with delicate swirls in rose quartz. The slippers, bag and jewels, of course, are chosen to match the jeweled embroidery.

Truly, a chic little black velvet frock, designed by Paquin, might be christened the debutante's delight, for it never fails to register ecstatic approval from a member of the younger set.

Its color and fabric, black stiff velvet, make an instant appeal.

But nothing could be more partly youthful than the silhouette, the brief little straight frock being enlivened by a huge pout of the velvet on one hip, with ends trailing on the floor.

With such a frock as this, one may, of course, wear black slippers, perhaps with silver heels or rhinestone buckles, and be perfectly correct.

Color Important Question.

Color is the keynote of the winter mode. And the question of color for evening is definitely three-sided. Every smart evening gown comes under the category of light, dark, or red, thereby giving play to unlimited scope of becomingness to type.

The color tones are not vague, half-hearted ones. Light shades are very, very light, so pale that at first glance they appear to be white. But the second look discovers an overtone of silvery gray, pale blue, delicate pink-yellow, wraith-like violet or green that looks like milky white jade. White is never white, but following the theory of portrait painters that white contains every color, the over and undertones are supplied in the fabric as well as lighter and deeper ones in highlights and shadows.

Dark shades are very dark and these are more easily worn. One need not be quite as careful about one's complexion as with the off-white shades. Black, deep blues of tropic nights, plum shades, cedar greens and ruddy purples, dance smartly at exclusive night clubs. And smart women seem equally divided in the preference for the "darks" or "lights."

And last, but by no means least, comes red. Red is taking equal honors with black this season.

Interesting Combinations.

Then, too, there is the subject of using color. This year there are color combinations we never thought of before, brown with lacquer red, brown and almond green, red with brown and beige, black with cinnamon brown.

Fashion has become color conscious and every woman may be an artist and mix her own colorful desires on the fashion palette.

But remember this! The unusual color is never good unless it carries out the ensemble idea. The pale pink frock with the touch of violet needs must wear a flash of pinkish-amethyst at throat and wrists and perhaps slippers of deep violet.

The light off-white shades should invariably be accented with the deeper tones of jewels and a dark accent in slippers. With the deep shades for evening the sparkle of diamonds, crystals, the soft glow of pearls or shining gold and silver are good. And it is awfully smart this season to wear emeralds with red, a combination which has been avoided for some time because it was considered too obvious. Jade may also be used with happy effect with the mode of red.

However, the woman with the fitted evening must still be exceedingly careful about choosing her color combinations. The more extreme are only for those whose fashion needs are not hemmed in by the rigorous budget. For some very lovely results may be gained with a few costumes as a basic foundation and changes of accessories that make for fashion variety.

Unmasked Men
Rob Bank of Bills

Hawthorne, N. J., Jan. 10 (P).—Two unmasked men held up the First National Bank as the place was being opened for business today and escaped with $14,346 in bills.

The robbers, both of whom were armed with revolvers, walked in almost on the heels of Arthur L. Cruikshank, assistant cashier, and cornered him and Howard Hausman, the night watchman, after Cruikshank had opened the vault. They were the only two employees in the bank at the time.

Hausman, who failed to raise his arms quickly enough, was knocked unconscious by a blow of a revolver butt. The robbers scooped up all the bills in the vault, leaving several thousand dollars in gold and silver.

They locked Cruikshank and Hausman behind the gate of the vault and escaped.

Highland Water
Declared Safe

Philip T. Schantz, superintendent of the privately owned water supply system in the village of Highland, has admitted that the water is now being obtained from a pond rather than from the reservoirs but that an inspector of the State Department of Health had examined the water from the pond and reported that it might have a disagreeable odor but it is safe from a sanitary standpoint.

Mr. Schantz also reported that John R. Seamen, proprietor of the Highland Inn, is the only one who has made any formal complaint about the water supply system.

The reservoirs are being cleaned out and will again be used when rain or melting snow replenish the regular supply of the village.

There are 216 users of the Schantz water supply in Highland. Mr. Schantz said, and Mr. Seamen is the only one who has made a real complaint. Others have called up but did not complain, he asserts.

Mr. Seamen, who is a member of the Kingston Citizens' League of Justice, said an effort is being made by the organization to procure a better water supply system.

Dr. J. W. Blakely, health officer of Highland, reported that the water from the pond is perfectly safe for use.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JAN. 10, 1929.

AGAINST COMMON SENSE.

In approving the life sentence given in Michigan to a mother of ten children as a fourth-offense bootlegger, the Rev. Clarence True Wilson, of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Church, says she should have been sentenced to life imprisonment before any of her children were born in order to "prevent the production of abnormal children." In other words, the courts should know in advance what persons are going to violate the Volstead act and hurry them behind penitentiary bars before they have time to sire or give birth to criminal offspring! The ages of Mrs. Miller's ten children have not been stated, but we may take for granted that some of them were born before the Volstead act. Moreover, the woman's liquor-selling would appear to be recent.

Michigan's law, says the Springfield Republican (dry), "has done much to make prohibition odious." Other prohibitionists with "bowels of compassion" are likely to agree to this and some of them are likely to add that the Rev. Clarence True Wilson is assisting the Michigan law in that process. Apparently he alone has the heart—or the lack thereof—to applaud, and publicly at that, what the dry Massachusetts newspaper describes as a "monstrous perversion of justice" which "no sensible person can approve." The newspaper quoted, although "dry," notes with satisfaction that one Michigan judge, relying on "the revolt of public sentiment," has contrived to ignore a "freak deviation from common sense in the criminal law" and given a fourth-offense bootlegger merely a year of imprisonment.

NO NEW YORK "SOCIETY."

All our lesser cities still have a more or less distinct social group called "Society," but it seems that this is no longer true of New York. The whole fabric of society there, according to the New York Times, "has been so altered in recent years that a single leader or even a united group could not hope to lay down the law." The thing is now too big to be managed in the old way. "Too many people," says the Times, "are able to qualify in most outward aspects to make a single social group. Instead of a few hundred there are now thousands who live at correct addresses, send their children to the right schools and are themselves models of polite behavior. But they cannot live under the white-gloved hand of a single director. No autocrat could handle the large, unwieldy mixed mass that makes up New York's 'society' today."

In other words, so many representatives of great fortunes have settled in New York that "society" has become more or less of a polite mob. This condition of affairs is a far cry from the period when Mrs. William Astor ruled her "four hundred." Writing from personal recollection of that period a correspondent of the Times says: "A position in the social empyrean at all comparable to that occupied by Mrs. William Astor for a goodly number of years without dispute was never possible before her time for any American woman, nor has it been since. Not a few of the prerogatives of royalty were hers. No affair could properly begin until she arrived. And no matter how bored one became, or how many engagements had to be deferred, all had to wait the departure of Mrs. Astor before seeking a cone of the hostess. And everybody accepted it as a very charming make-believe game of kings and queens."

STEEL CONSUMPTION.

This is the Age of Steel. Our civilization is built on steel. More and more, our comforts and luxuries, as well as our working power depend on it. Consumption tells the story. Last year we used 350 pounds of steel per capita in this country. This is nearly half a ton for every man, woman and child of us. How did we do it? Look around, make a list included:

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

WHY YOU FEEL DISCOURAGED.

You have been planning a business venture, a business trip, perhaps a change in your occupation.

You grow enthusiastic, and spend a lot of time working out details. In a little while some of your enthusiasm is lost.

You go over the figures and plans again and find that they are correct, and yet you begin to "cool off" on the project, to lose courage.

What has happened?

In this planning and preparation for a change you have done two things. You have likely kept at your regular work or occupation, and also done the planning, figuring, and thinking on the new project. This has meant a double strain on you physically and mentally, and you are simply tired out.

As you know, when you work with your body, your muscles, you create a poison that must be removed if the muscle is to continue to do its work properly.

When you work with your brain you likewise create poisons that should be removed by the circulation. There is only one way to get these poisons out of the system, and that is to stop manufacturing them for a time.

In other words the reason you lost your enthusiasm for your work or stopped planning, was because your blood was poisoned from these extra fatigue wastes, and this poisoned blood bathed the brain and took away your courage.

And so if you find that sometimes you seem filled with ambition, a desire to do things, and it is not due to any stimulant such as alcohol or too much tea or coffee, then that is your real self.

If you lose this ambition or desire to do things it is because you are tired or need a change.

So just keep the above thought in mind, and don't feel badly if you lose some of your courage temporarily.

Just take a good rest, mental and physical rest, and you'll come back to the plan or project with your real self and your real courage to back you.

It was a short session and the books of the supervisor, alms commissioner and superintendent of highways were audited within an hour. The reports will soon be ready for publication. The board will meet again this week to dispose of several road matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Armstrong and their two children and also the maid are recovering from a siege of the trained nurse during their illness.

The Sundstrom Motor Co. has sold a Ford fordor sedan to Harry Colver of Highland and a sport coupe to Hattie Clark of Marlborough.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harcourt and Mr. and Mrs. Westervelt Clark spent New Year's with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnes of Middle Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hill of Rosendale visited Mrs. Hill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Gaffney, one evening this week.

Miss Margaret Smith of Newburgh was a Sunday guest of Mrs. Mary Dugan at her home.

SHOKAN.

Shokan, Jan. 9.—Work has been resumed on the Tonche mountain project, following a brief period of inactivity during the holidays and the subsequent icy spell. The development of this great estate by Mr. Piccaini constitutes the most extensive private undertaking of its kind in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris are the proud possessors of a new Nash sedan—one of the classiest looking cars in town.

Among those suffering from bad colds are Mrs. Earl North and Mrs. Henry Fischang, two of Shokan's popular young matrons.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Ross, who left recently for their new home in Arlington, will be greatly missed here. Mr. and Mrs. Ross are a congenial young couple, and doubtless will make many friends down the river, as they have done in Shokan. All wish them the best of success in their new venture.

The cold snap of the past few days tied up the work of building the new state road, and the young men who drive the big trucks have been taking things easy as a result of this forced inactivity. Several of the boys board at Mrs. J. Winchell's, and they seem to be young men of excellent deportment. They receive two dollars an hour as drivers, finding their own car and oil. This, it would seem, is pretty fair pay when the work is in steady progress, but the lay-off periods are not so good.

Next on the program will be the annual ice harvest; it looks that way now, anyhow. Temple's Pond, on Lake Krenoma, as some prefer to designate the long strip of water between here and Glenford, is the favorite field for gathering ice, and if it doesn't freeze thick there it will hardly do so anywhere, so bitterly cold is that wind-swept sector.

Charlie Price and Mr. McDowell, who are employed on the Piccaini job, are boarding at the homes of Mrs. Jennie Green and Miss Bertha Green, respectively. Both are likeable fellows, and all are glad to have them in our midst.

"Bill" Personeau, official gas dispenser at Winchell's, has about recovered from a severe cold and is now able to resume his duties at the store.

Mrs. H. C. Elmendorf has some fine Rhode Island Reds and Barred Rock pullets which she raised herself. Mrs. Elmendorf's poultry flock is always a delight to the eye.

"Jackie," probably the most popular dog in town, died the other day, as a result of poisoning it is thought. Just a little yellow canine of nondescript breed, yet Jackie, had been human, might have enumerated his friends by the score.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Jan. 10.—Services at the Reformed Church on Sunday at the usual time. At 10:30 the Rev. C. Van Tol will preach on "Grieve Not in the Spirit." Sunday school at 11:45 under the leadership of L. D. Sahlin. The C. E. will meet at 7 p. m. The leader will be announced later.

The C. E. met at the parsonage on Tuesday evening, and elected officers for the year as follows: President, Mrs. C. Van Tol; vice president, Alberta Davis; secretary, Margaret Service; treasurer, Mrs. Ray Wood.

Mrs. C. Roosa, who recently underwent an operation at the Albany Hospital, is improving rapidly and is expected home the end of the week.

Charles Hasbrouck, Alfred Hasbrouck and Claude Wilkow left by motor on Saturday for Minneapolis, where they will work for Matthew Hasbrouck.

The Stone Ridge Men's Community Club will meet on Thursday evening, January 17, at 6:30 p. m. Every member is asked to be present to witness the installation of officers and to start the new year right.

The January Parent-Teacher meeting will be held on Friday, January 11, at the school-house.

The Rev. C. Van Tol will conduct the union service this Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Reformed Church. The sermon by the Rev. Mr. Rugh will be on the subject "Above All Things." Everyone is welcome to attend these services.

The Sunday school will convene at 9:45 a. m. in the Methodist Church. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. The sermon, "The Parable of the Ten Virgins," by the pastor.

Miss Helen Clark has just undergone a serious operation in a New York hospital.

Architectural.

In England architecture that corresponds to that known in America as "Colonial" is known as "Georgian," designating the style of architecture of the reigns of the four Georges, from 1714 to 1830.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsion of cod liver oil, which is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and breaks the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, cod liver oil is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs, colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to cod liver oil, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the cod liver oil goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Columbus, O., Jan. 10.—Two Lutheran conventions of international importance will meet in Columbus this month. The Lutheran Foreign Missions Conference will meet in "public convention" at Mee's Hall, Capital University, January 14 and 15, and on January 16 and 17 the National Lutheran Council, meeting at the Southern Hotel, will celebrate the tenth anniversary of its founding.

The Council is an agency serving fifteen American Lutheran bodies in representation before other denominations and governmental agencies, in statistical and reference library service, and in publicity. During the past ten years the council has conducted emergency work, through its "World Service" department, in support of distressed foreign mission fields which suffered economic stress through the World War, and in conserving church work and relieving distress in 22 European lands. The total distributed during this period for emergency relief amounts to nearly $7,000,000 in clothing, food and cash.

GOUTRE NOT A DISEASE.

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery.

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goutre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. E-38, Box 757, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goutre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goutre cases all over the country with astonishing results.

The Doctor states that goutre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention so matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goutre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Folks just like yourself

THE folks who serve your telephone are folks just like yourself—have the same human interests, problems, ambitions and hopes. Their work has a most direct relation to your own business and social affairs, for telephone service is a vital element in the daily life of almost everyone.

These folks—over 56,000 of them in New York State—have justifiable pride in the work they are doing, for few, if any, other occupations afford as large opportunity to contribute to the comfort, convenience, welfare and general progress of so many people.

These folks are the telephone company. They are folks just like yourself—endeavoring daily to give you service just as you would want to be if you could do it for yourself.

Whisper!

Wouldn't it be a girl's college?

1. Every girl that enters the college must have a beauty prize.
2. Every girl must be very well dressed, and compelled to promenade on one of the main streets from three until six o'clock.
3. No girl can enter the school who cannot dance, she must be able to follow even freshmen.
4. Every girl is compelled to take the course entitled, The Art of Kissing and How to Appreciate it. (Editor's note: Is this necessary?)
5. Every girl who does not have at least eight dates a week is shipped.

They had both spent an amusing evening, and as they lived in the same street, it was not remarkable that they should collide with each other on the way home.

Said the first reveler: "Jewever see me before?"

"No," answered the second.

"You know who I am, then?"

"Then you don't know who I am?"

"No, I don't."

"Then how do you know it's me?"

"My motto is: What is worth doing is worth doing well."

"I notice that whenever you make a fool of yourself."

Dead and Don't Know It.

Henry Allen Wilson, secretary of the New England Anti-Tobacco League, said in an address at Portland:

"Carefully compiled statistics show us that for every cigar a man smokes he shortens his life three days, while for every cigarette he shortens his life a week."

At that point a prominent Portland physician rose in the rear of the hall.

"Are those statistics absolutely accurate?" he asked.

"Absolutely, sir," said Secretary Wilson. "Why?"

"Because its rather important," explained the physician. "You see if your statistics are accurate, I've been dead over 300 years."

George—My dear, I tell you I was setting up with a sick friend."

Minnie—How many did you set up before he got sick?"

"Walter, there's something queer about this coffee—it tastes like cocoa."

"Oh, beg pardon, sir, I've given you another customer's tea by mistake."

Kingston People Acclaim Nu-Erb Greatest Medicine Ever Sold Here

Persons Who Once Suffered From Constipation, Weak Kidneys, Sluggish Liver, Headaches, Gastritis, Nervousness and Rheumatism Openly Declare That the Great Herb Remedy, Nu-Erb, Has Given Grand Relief.

To Every Sufferer the Advice Is Given To Go To McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall Street, Get Nu-Erb and Begin the Treatment Today.

Nu-Erb's popularity grows by leaps and bounds as the news of the good work spreads round among the people. Many read of its wonderful tonic and corrective properties in Nu-Erb's advertising, and by using home town testimonials, has established itself as soundly reliable. Others get the good news by word of mouth from enthusiastic friends and neighbors who have discovered in Nu-Erb a health builder even beyond their fondest expectations.

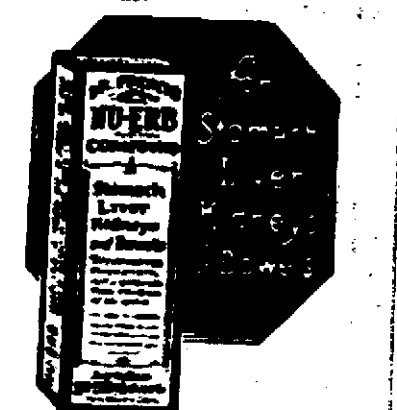

The name Nu-Erb has literally become a symbol of hope to those who suffer. It has proved how needless their suffering is, and in a body they have arisen and demanded Nu-Erb to demolish the hitherto unsurmountable barrier that has separated them from vigorous, care-free health and vitality.

As a blood purifier, it is unequalled, and as it cleanses this life-giving fluid that nourishes the organs, each of them responds with renewed strength and activity. Particularly is this true of the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys. Weak and undernourished, these vital digestive organs are often the cause of untold misery. Most of our everyday ills are directly traceable to them. Nu-Erb acts with equal directness, however, and speedily cleanses the digestive organs of all impurities, tuning and regulating their actions until they and the whole system responds with vigorous, glowing health.

WHAT NU-ERB IS MADE OF

Nu-Erb is made from the following 12 different roots, herbs and leaves:

Sarsaparilla, Senna, Poke Root, Rhubarb Root, Burdock, Dandelion, Black Cohosh, Columba, Gentian, Cascara Bark, Mandrake, Red Clover Blossoms.

It is natural, perfectly harmless and contains no mineral narcotics or habit forming drugs.

Best Medicine I Have Ever Used, Says Ravine St. Lady

Splendid Relief for Well Known Kingston Man

Highest Praise Is Given The New Herbal Medicine by Well Known Nearby Contractor.

"Nu-Erb has benefitted me in so many ways that I gladly tell others about it so that they may know of this splendid medicine," says Mr. William J. Turck, Box 259, R. D. 4, Lincoln Park, Kingston, N. Y., who is the well known carpenter and contractor of that section.

"For some time past I have had great difficulty in going about my work because of stomach, kidney and liver troubles. No matter how careful I was of what I ate large quantities of gas formed in my stomach causing me much misery from heartburn and acid risings. I continually had a sore pain across my stomach from which I could seem to get no relief. My kidneys called me up several times each night and showed other signs of weakness. I found it necessary to use harsh laxatives because of chronic constipation and my entire system became so run down that I was nervous, irritable and had no energy.

"It is only a few weeks ago that I first heard of Nu-Erb and decided to give it a trial and I am here to say that this wonderful medicine has put an end to practically each one of these troubles. It has relieved the gas and other distress in my stomach. My kidneys are much stronger and I no longer suffer from dizzy spells or floating spots before my eyes. My bowels are acting more regular than they have for years. My nerves are steady now and I am feeling stronger and more energetic than I have for a long, long time. Everyone who suffers from these troubles should give this splendid medicine a chance to help them."

Suffered From Backache, Rheumatism and Other Ailments Tells How She Got Relief.

"For several years I have suffered from rheumatism of my joints and muscles which I believe were caused by kidney trouble as I had a continual aching pain across my back and my kidneys showed other signs of weakness," said Mrs. Charles Branigan, 12 Ravine street, Kingston, N. Y. "The rheumatism brought about a sharp pain through my joints and muscles and they would become terribly swollen and stiff. At times it was almost impossible for me to get about my work because of this trouble. I was also bothered a lot with dizzy spells, dark spots floating before my eyes and continually suffered from splitting headaches. I became extremely nervous, irritable and couldn't stand the least noise around the house. I slept poorly at night and would awaken in the morning with a tired worn out feeling and no ambition.

"I tried many medicines but they all failed to help me until I started using Nu-Erb about a month ago. This splendid medicine was the first to ever relieve these troubles for me and I believe everyone who has similar health troubles should try it. I rarely ever have a pain or ache now. My kidneys are apparently in good condition and the rheumatism has practically disappeared. Not only that, but I am no longer troubled with dizzy spells, spots before my eyes, headaches or constipation from which I suffered for many years. My nerves are stronger and I have a splendid appetite and sleep soundly all night long."

This is the Nu-Erb Man at McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall Street, Who Has Advised Hundreds of Local People How to Take Nu-Erb for Best Results.

WISHES THAT HE HAD FOUND THE NU-ERB BEFORE

Port Ewen Man Relates How He Suffered From Indigestion, Gas, Dizzy Spells, Nervousness and Weak Kidneys.

That the herbal medicine, Dr. French's Nu-Erb, which is being introduced in Kingston at McBride Drug Stores marks a great advance in medicines is again evidenced by the recent statement of Mr. Pratt S. Van Kleeck, Port Ewen, N. Y. (near Kingston).

"I suffered so badly from a disordered stomach that every morsel of food made me miserable with indigestion, gas and heartburn," said Mr. Van Kleeck. "The gas would form in large quantities after every meal and felt like a lump of lead in my stomach which would press up against my heart causing shortness of breath and severe attacks of heartburn. My kidneys disturbed me several times each night. I became very nervous, irritable and could not sleep at night. My appetite was very poor and I also suffered from sickening, staggering dizzy spells."

"I tried many different medicines but nothing ever helped me to any extent until I started using the Nu-Erb about a month ago and I am pleased to say that this splendid medicine has overcome each one of these troubles. My food digests without forming that distressing gas. I am no longer troubled with heartburn or dizzy spells. My kidneys are stronger and I sleep soundly all night without being disturbed. My nerves give me no trouble and as a result of this, new feeling of health I am stronger and more energetic in every way."

Persons who take Nu-Erb say that there is nothing like this pure herb and root medicine to put an end to such misery and suffering. It tones and strengthens the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels and drives out noxious waste matter from the system. It is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

Music in the Air

Do You Know Your Music?

THE fact that the shepherd's pipe was the ancestor of the oboe will be brought out in the next RCA Educational broadcast which will be given Friday morning, over the WJZ network of the N.Y.C. under the direction of Walter Damrosch.

The tone quality of the oboe, English horn and bassoon will be illustrated, incidentally, in a delightful concert program which includes Allegretto from Symphony No. 2, by Brahms; Shepherd's Song from "Tristan and Isolde," by Wagner; and Slavonic Dance No. 7, by Dvorak. These instruments, which are usually associated with the wistfully romantic and melancholy themes in musical compositions, will be especially emphasized in the program.

The English horn, used in the Shepherd's Song, which is sometimes called "the lay of sorrow," is a symbolic of Tristan's ceaseless longing for Isolde.

Clip this article and listen-in Friday morning, January 11th, at 11:30, (10:30 A. M. C. S. T., and 9:30 A. M. M. S. T.); then test your appreciation of the concert by answering the following questions, which will be asked of high school and college students. The correct answers will be given here next week, together with a new set of questions for the succeeding concert.

- 1-Q. What is the legend regarding the origin of the oboe, as related by Mr. Damrosch?
- 2-Q. What verses did Mr. Damrosch set to the theme of the Allegretto from Brahms' Second Symphony, as an illustration of the sentiment expressed by the movement?
- 3-Q. What instrument plays the melody in the first part of the Allegretto?
- 4-Q. What instruments play the accompaniment?
- 5-Q. What transformation does this melody undergo in the second part of the movement?
- 6-Q. What does the "Shepherd's Song" from "Tristan and Isolde" express?
- 7-Q. What instrument plays the "Shepherd's Song"?
- 8-Q. In what form is the principal theme of Dvorak's Seventh Slavonic Dance given out, and by what instrument?
- 9-Q. What does the word "canon" mean in music?
- 10-Q. Mention a well-known popular example of canon form.
- Answers to the questions on the last concert (January 4th) for junior high school students follow:
- 1-Q. From what early instrument is the modern orchestral horn derived?
- A. The hunting horn.
- 2-Q. For what purpose was the hunting horn used?
- A. To call the hunters together and to signal to them during the hunt.
- 3-Q. How many horns are there usually in the modern symphony orchestra?
- A. Four.
- 4-Q. What does the horn express in "Siegfried's Rhine Journey"?
- A. The joyousness, enthusiasm and audacity of youth.
- 5-Q. What does the horn express in the introduction to the "Mignon" Overture?
- A. Gentle melancholy and longing.
- 6-Q. For what purpose was the trumpet originally used?
- A. To signal to the troops of an army, and to encourage them in battle.
- 7-Q. How many trumpets are there usually in the modern symphony orchestra?
- A. Three.
- 8-Q. Why did Saint-Saens include a French Military March among the movements of his "Algerian Scenes"?
- A. Because French troops are frequently seen in Algeria, which is governed by France.
- 9-Q. What do the trumpets express in this March?
- A. The vivacity and courage of the French soldiers.

The NEW Frigidaire

Sparkling full-size ice cubes for the frosted glasses

In homes where entertaining is a frequent occurrence, where guests and callers drop in informally at all times, there is a great need for dependable refrigeration. It's a great help to have a delicious dessert tucked away in the refrigerator waiting to surprise the guests.

The New Frigidaire makes entertaining a simple matter. All sorts of food, the most perishable, can be kept for days in its cold, dry atmosphere—always ready for unexpected visitors. Desserts, prepared far in advance, tempting salads and frozen mousses or sherbets can grace your refreshment table, with little trouble on your part. And the trays of sparkling ice cubes for the frosted glasses add a finishing touch of perfection. Guests, parties, luncheons, unexpected callers—come what may—the hostess who owns a New Frigidaire is always prepared.

RADIUM VICTIMS DOOMED TO DIE

With but One Year to Live
Five Girls Seek Life Desires.

New York—Just across the Hudson river, in Orange, N. J., five young women, the victims of apparently healthy, are doomed to die.

They are victims of nothing, but their fate is more tragically fatal than if the nation's highest court had sentenced them.

Apparently healthy? Yes. But in each of their courses a minute bit of that most valuable, most mysterious, most deadly substance in the world—radium!

"A year to live," the doctors said. And that was six months ago. They were given $10,000 each by the company in whose service they had invited death. And now the world is watching the enacted answer to that ghastly scientific question:

"What would you do if you were given a fortune and a year to live?"

Poisoned in War Work.

The story of their poisoning has been told. But the manner in which they have chosen to spend their precious time—an unmatchable study in the variety of human character and ideal—is reported for the first time in an article in the Cosmopolitan.

The five are Mrs. Quince McDonald and Mrs. Edna Larson, sisters; Miss Katherine Schaub, Mrs. Edna Husman and Miss Grace Fryer. As girls in their teens, they worked during the war in a New Jersey factory. Their job was to paint those radiant dials on wrist watches for the doughboys in France.

Whether or not they were instructed not to "point" their tiny brushes with their lips has never been satisfactorily settled. But the fact is that they did touch the brushes, bearing a radium composition, to their lips frequently during the day.

One Finds Poems a Refuge.

It was in 1925 that the death of the French chemist, Henri Becquerel, aide of Marie Curie, discoverer of radium, was traced to his laboratory experiment, and science's attention was directed to all who had been in contact with the substance.

Examination convinced scientists that the five New Jersey women were doomed. Suits followed, which were settled in June, 1928, for $10,000 each to each, with an additional monthly remittance during their lives.

To them $10,000 was fortune. What would they do before the year of grace reached its tragic end? How would they face that year of opulence—tragically, recklessly, hopelessly, dispassionately?

Katherine Schaub, youngest of the quintet, is realizing an ambition, repressed during the years of necessary factory work, to read, to write poetry. The Cosmopolitan writer found her hidden away in a farmhouse in the Catskills, surrounded by a new, but carefully selected, library, drinking in the rustic beauty she had never known before, making herself loved among her farm neighbors. But first she had taken up a mortgage on her father's little home in Newark.

Mrs. Edna Husman had wanted all her life two things—leisure and music. She has her leisure, tragically limited, and all of the music she can crowd into it with a fine player-piano in one corner of the modest Husman living room, an expensive cabinet radio in the other.

Money Adds to Tragedy.

Mrs. Larson through her girlhood had longed for and dreamed of distant horizons and far places. But always there had been the necessity of work and never the money to travel. Her first expenditure from the $10,000 was for a comfortable car and a long, grey-like tour of Canada.

But to her sister, Mrs. McDonald, the money only meant increased tragedy. Immediately the check arrived her husband quit his job to enjoy the sudden affluence. When she protested, there were quarrels; finally a separation. Her one concern now is for her two small children, and for their education the bulk of her money has gone into a trust fund.

But the fifth and last fight back at fate. No acceptance of science's word for Grace Fryer. She holds her job with a Newark trust company, her money invested as though she were providing against a ripe old age. Her outlook is unchanged. If anything she is more interested in life, and in rallying her four friends. She is the irreconcilable one, intelligently following every effort of the experts who are striving fruitlessly to stave off fate.

Doctor Explains Cases.

But Dr. Harrison S. Martland, who has followed the cases from their inception and led the search for a solution, says:

"For a time after the radium salts reach the bone, the subject actually feels better than normal. But the constant bombardment of the alpha rays emanating from the salts eventually breaks down the blood-forming centers. Anemia develops and the condition spreads."

Science knows what occurs, but it doesn't know—yet, at least—how to prevent or remedy it.

"Nothing we know will counteract the condition," says Doctor Martland.

TIGHTER RULES FOR U.S. ENVOYS

Youthful Diplomats Find They Must Learn Foreign Customs.

Washington.—Young gentlemen with Harvard degrees who feel at home in a tuxedo, spot and stove-pipe hats and who rush glibly into the pompous career of foreign service of the government, are now being told that if they are to succeed in life, they must first learn the customs of the countries to which they are being sent.

By way of illustration of this change, the executive decree setting aside the Near East as a zone of foreign service specialization is worthy of note. It means that an increasing group of foreign service candidates is surveyed and hand picked for men of promise.

These selected youngsters are told that if they select Near Eastern specialization they will be sent as vice-consuls to such a post for an 18-month probationary period. During that time, in addition to doing their routine work up to the hilt, they must do some of the initiative and brains to do something in original research in their territory. No suggestions as to the subject are made. They must pick out the job themselves.

Having accomplished that, the youngster is given three years' intensive study in Near Eastern languages, being required to learn Turkish, Arabic and Persian, one of them very thoroughly and the other two well. Having proved by that time his serious purpose of having actual knowledge and understanding of the Near East, he will be kept on duty there at various posts thereafter as a key man in the foreign service system and a mark in efficiency at which others may shoot.

ing at home.

Candidates Are Surveyed.

By way of illustration of this change, the executive decree setting aside the Near East as a zone of foreign service specialization is worthy of note. It means that an increasing group of foreign service candidates is surveyed and hand picked for men of promise.

These selected youngsters are told that if they select Near Eastern specialization they will be sent as vice-consuls to such a post for an 18-month probationary period. During that time, in addition to doing their routine work up to the hilt, they must do some of the initiative and brains to do something in original research in their territory. No suggestions as to the subject are made. They must pick out the job themselves.

Having accomplished that, the youngster is given three years' intensive study in Near Eastern languages, being required to learn Turkish, Arabic and Persian, one of them very thoroughly and the other two well. Having proved by that time his serious purpose of having actual knowledge and understanding of the Near East, he will be kept on duty there at various posts thereafter as a key man in the foreign service system and a mark in efficiency at which others may shoot.

Snow Removal Equipment

Over 11 Miles of Snow Fence.

In the way of prevention the county has erected over 11 miles of snow fence at points where drifts are apt to form. A high snow fence has been built at the lower end of Temple's pond on the Ashoka boulevard where the road runs close to the pond to permit snow fences to be erected.

Mr. Kiefer, foreman of the garage and in charge of the snow removal equipment as well, has a force of expert mechanics at work on the repairing of the equipment and in addition has a list of available men who can be called out to clean the equipment in an emergency. As soon as snow falls which requires the equipment to go out these men report for duty and are assigned to their stations on the equipment.

County Garage Model Building.

The county garage which was completed recently is a model building for efficiency and working conditions. Much of the work about the building has been done by the county's men in spare time. The courtyard has been paved with concrete, a long shed has been erected for storage of supplies and equipment, the walk and curb has been laid and other work done by the men in spare time.

For heating an oil burner was installed and this also heats the hot water boiler which is used for various purposes. Hot water is available for washing down trucks as soon as they come in from a snow job. Driven over the drain hot water is turned on and the ice and snow quickly removed so that repair jobs can be readily done. The garage and machine shop is heated with the new Trane unit heating system. It is automatic in operation. There are no radiators but overhead are heating units which are equipped with small blowers. When the heat goes on these blowers automatically commence operation and the heat is blown from overhead down on the floor and kept in circulation near the floor where needed. When the heat goes off the blowers cease.

Two Gasoline Shovels.

In order to cope with the flood situation in the county the county has purchased two gasoline shovels which have been engaged in doing some excellent work in the towns of Olive and Wawarsing. These shovels are at present in the shop undergoing thorough overhauling jobs so as to be ready in the spring for the summer's work. The flood conditions have thrown much additional work and expense on the county highway department and it is necessary to have additional emergency equipment. A concrete mixer is also a part of this emergency equipment and in spare time the men at the garage have been engaged in making up bridge guard rails from building machinery and emergency equipment is now stored for the winter at the county garage and includes the concrete mixer, shovels and other equipment.

Included in the equipment is a large trailer which is used to carry the heavy gasoline shovels from place to place. This trailer is built of heavy steel and is mounted on the ground and the shovel is run up on the trailer under its own power. The trailer is hooked to a truck and towed at a fast clip to its new destination. A trip which would require two days to make with the snow moving shovel under its own power is made in a few hours in this way not only saving time but also wear and tear in the shovel which is a massive slow moving machine on the road.

All of the equipment is under cover and apparently the only thing which the men are in need of now is a snow storm of sufficient volume to test out the equipment and demonstrate its value to the taxpayers.

Ship of Famous Pirate.

"Adventure" was the name of the ship commanded by Captain Kidd. This famous pirate sailed from New York in 1699. In 1900, the ship was discovered in the Atlantic Ocean. It was eventually put to death for his piratical exploits.

Headlight

We would be several thousand feet nearer the millennium if people depended as much energy trying to prevent disasters as they expend trying to explain them and place the responsibility.

Printer Also Had a Proposition to Make

It seems that a printer somewhere in the town of Kingston had a proposition to make to the town of Kingston. He wanted to build a new town hall and a new town hall would be built on the site of the old town hall. He wanted to build a new town hall and a new town hall would be built on the site of the old town hall.

So Mr. Printer proposed the case carefully and answered something in this manner:

"Am in the market for bids on one operation for appendicitis—one, two, and three-inch incision, with and without nurse. If appendix is found to be sound, want operations to include putting same back and connecting order. If removed, successful order is expected to hold incision open for about sixty days, as I expect to be in the market for an operation for pain-stones at that time and want to save the cost of cutting."—Charles Morgan.

100 Pct. Persians Fight for Baggy Trousers

Ahwaz, Persia.—Standpat Persians are ready to die for their traditional baggy trousers. That the sartorial reforms of the modernizing shah will not go the easy, unchallenged way in Persia of the like reforms of Kemal in Turkey is proved by sanguinary outbreaks here.

The attempts of the shah's envoys to disarm the population of this city, which has stubbornly refused to discard the traditional costume and don the coat, vest and trousers of European cut, resulted recently in open combat, during which six of the shah's officials were killed.

The prompt dispatch of additional royal troops to the unruly city restored order and effected the disarming of the rebels. But the rumble of revolt is still shaking Persia from border to border.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 19 (P).—Earlier credit conditions and favorable trade news, including an unexpectedly large increase of 262,112 tons in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation last month, provided groundwork for another brisk advance in prices in today's stock market.

Renewal of selling pressure against some leading industrials caused a temporary sinking around midday, but fresh buying support was quickly supplied, and a long list of issues advanced 3 to 10 1/2 points above yesterday's final quotations. Among the many other issues which sold at their best prices in years, if not for all time, were Electric Auto-Lite, American Steel Foundries, Commonwealth Power, Ohio Elevator, Continental Baking A and B, Real Silk Hosiery, Worthington Pump & Machinery, Fisher, the last-named responding to the announcement of the acquisition of the United Process Co., manufacturers of typewriter supplies.

Quotations given by Parker McElroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York City, branch office, 260 Fair street.

Crowded Calling List for Hoover

Washington, Jan. 19 (P).—Anxious to leave Washington for Florida later than the middle of next week, President-elect Hoover agreed to a crowded calling list today in his effort to dispose before then of all who desired to see him and to catch up fully with events which had occurred in his seven weeks' absence in South America.

Before his departure for Florida, Mr. Hoover will deliver on Saturday night from 8 to 9 o'clock, central time a radio address as a part of the program of dedication and formal opening of the new Great Northern railroad tunnel through the Cascade Mountains. Mr. Hoover will speak over a national radio hookup from Washington.

Faced with the practical certainty of having to call a special session of Congress to enact farm legislation, the President-elect nevertheless wished to continue his consultations with Congressional leaders today to ascertain their views and to perfect his knowledge of the political situation.

Recommendations for cabinet appointments continue to fall upon Mr. Hoover. Representatives Langley and Thatcher of Kentucky have urged him to appoint Mr. Abner N. Hays of their state and vice chairman of the Republican National Committee, to any post in his cabinet, while C. Schaffer, Republican representative-elect from Virginia, extolled the availability of C. Bascom Sless to the President-elect for secretary of the Interior.

Non-Stop Flights Around the World

Announcements Made in Wichita, Kansas, and Paris, That Such Flights Are Planned For This Year.

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 10 (P).—The most daring project of aviation—the world's first non-stop flight around the globe—which heretofore had been regarded as beyond the realm of possibility, today appeared near realization within the present year.

Furthermore, announcements of projected flights, made here and in Paris yesterday, suggested the possibility of a race to realize that dream of all endurance and distance fliers. Both flights would be refueling ventures and were suggested by the sustained flight of 150 hours made by the American Army monoplane Question Mark in California.

From a sick bed, recovering from severe illness and an operation, Colonel Arthur C. Goebel, noted distance and speed pilot, announced that he intended to be first to take the air in an effort to girdle the globe without a stop. He tentatively set August or September for the flight, which he said would be west-to-east from Wichita to Wichita.

Almost simultaneously it was revealed in Paris that the latest project of the Fokker aviation firm was a non-stop flight in the same direction from Paris to Paris, possibly in June, when it was believed the best weather would be encountered.

Success in a continuous flight around the world undoubtedly would more than cut in half the present round-the-world speed record of 23 days, 15 hours and 21 minutes, made with steamers and airplanes in July, 1928, by the late Captain C. B. D. Collyer and John Henry Mears.

The SANDMAN STORY

DOLLY'S BIRTHDAY

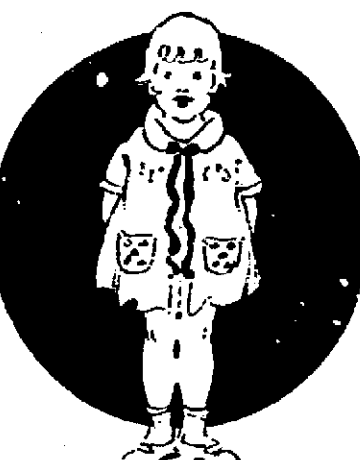

SHE is not really a dolly. That is, she is not a toy and she is not of the tin doll family.

She is a dolly in fact, because she is so lovely and lovable just as a dolly is.

But she is a real live person and she is called Dolly as a pet name.

You see, she is a pet just as a doll is a pet.

When her family tried to call her by her real name it didn't seem natural. It was a nice name to use for school and for important and superior occasions, but it was not the name which sounded natural for her family to use when they wanted to let her know how much they loved her.

She is a Real Live Person and She is Called Dolly.

And so it began. They called her Dolly at first when they wanted to show her in just one more little way that they thought she was the dearest person and the sweetest person and the loveliest person.

And then they wanted to let her know in just one more way that they loved her so that they had to call her by a pet name.

But it didn't seem to them that there was ever a time when they didn't want to show her how they felt about her and so, from having at first called her Dolly every little while, they began to call her Dolly every single time they spoke to her!

Now once a year, as is the custom with people, she had a birthday. And the family wanted to show her how happy they were about that. They were so happy all the time having Dolly around them that they didn't quite know how they could show her it any more—and yet on a birthday every one wants to show just a little more of the joy that is felt that some one they love is having another birthday and they hope many, many, many more!

So they prepared a little celebration. Just as they did each year! For each year it grew more important that there must be a little celebration for their beloved Dolly.

So this year they gave a very small party—just for those who loved Dolly best of all. They would give a big party later on but those who loved her the most wanted one little celebration all their very own for Dolly.

They gathered around a little table and they sang this song, making up a funny little tune as they went along:

Dolly, we love you, you ought to know that.
And we know that you know it, too.
You're never too too big for us to love you,
You're perfect just being you.

Dolly, we love you, you're our own precious one.
You make us so glad and so gay.
You're full of action and full of fun
And you make us feel just the same way.

Dolly, we love you, and we mean what we say.
When now as we sing this song,
We wish you so many happy returns of the day.

Many, many "happy returns of the day." Then they gave Dolly their presents, but not very many—just a few little things, for this year they had a surprise for Dolly. She was to pick out her little gifts herself on the next day, for they knew there were several little things she wanted which she could pick out just right.

After that they had peach ice cream, for they thought it was a good thing to have the ice cream of a flavor which was like Dolly—and Dolly was just like a little peach, too!

They had a cake with candles and they made speeches and cheered, and Dolly sat at the head of the table with a wreath about her head and at the back of her chair ribbons gayly were tied there.

Green ferns were decorating the table and a carrot made mostly out of marshmallow stood upon the table, too, for Dolly was very fond of marshmallow.

And as the smiles of all looked so brightly happy in the candlelight, Dolly's heart glowed warmly that she was so loved and the hearts of the others that they had Dolly to love.

For what is nicer than on a birthday to show, just a little more than at any other time of the year, how much we love the one whose birthday we are celebrating and about which we are rejoicing?

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

WHOOPIING COUGH CURE

A SUPERSTITION sometimes met with in this country and in Canada, and which is very common in Scotland and England, is that a child may be cured of whooping cough by taking a hair from its head, placing it between two slices of bread, or concealing it in a piece of meat, and giving it to a dog to eat. This is merely a survival of the idea of primitive man of the "transference of disease," an idea at the base of several popular superstitions.

Primitive man believed that a disease could be gotten rid of by passing it along to someone else or to an animal. Why should he not? He saw a person suffering from a disease; the person got well but the person who had been attending him, or had been closely associated with him, "came down" with the same disease. Clearly the disease had been transferred from the party of the first part to the party of the second part. The primitive belief that the hair was especially a part of a man's spiritual and physical entity still prevails in some sections. What better way to transfer a disease from a child to a dog than to give the dog a hair of the child's head to eat?

In primitive man's theory of disease transference he always appears to have considered the disease—which of course he regarded as an evil spirit—as being perfectly willing, if not anxious, to leave one person for another, to seek "fresh fields and pastures new" if afforded any facilities for so doing. He must often have witnessed the spread of contagious disease in his tribe—and naturally this would give him the idea.

French Island Possessions
New Caledonia is the name of an island lying about half way between Australia and the Fiji Islands. New Caledonia is a French possession, with an area of 8,000 square miles. It was used as a penal station and many Communists were sent there during the uprising that followed the surrender of Paris in 1971. New Caledonia contains nickel mines, which are about the only known deposits of that metal outside the Sudbury district in northern Ontario.

SAWS

FOR THE GOOSE—

IF YOUR tongue is slower than your heart, people call you a dumbbell. And if it's quicker they call you a cat.

If you're spoilt to do something, and you're not sure you ought, it's a good idea to begin figuring the disadvantages first.

Once she's found the man she loves all a woman needs to make her happy is a little hut—preferably in the residential section, with a garage built under one side.

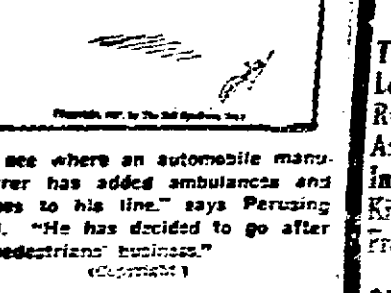

FOR THE GANDER—

It's a good idea to be interested in your girl's mother. But not too interested.

Listen to what everybody says about the girl you're beginnin' to fall for, but don't believe none of it.

The girl ain't livin' that ain't prepared for a proposal, any time it hits her. My goodness, she ought to be after all the time she put in workin' it up.

McGraw Will Have Big Task Picking His Team

New York, Jan. 10 (AP).—John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, probably will have to go in to many a battle with himself and his new assistants, Ray Schalk and Bert Niehoff, before he decides on the permanent personnel of his 1929 outfit.

Second base, the outfield and the pitching staff will give the veteran manager food for much thought.

Three-fourths of the 1928 infield last will remain, Bill Terry at first base, Travis Jackson, short, and Fred Lindstrom at third. Second is uncertain. Andy will play the bag, but whether it is to be Reese or Cohen remains to be seen. No matter which Andy is given the assignment, the other will remain on call.

McGraw thinks the outfield problem may develop into an abundance of riches. He added a clever and experienced major league performer to his club when he procured the services of Fred Leach by trade from the Phillies, and Ed Housh, Melvin Ott and Jim Welch are brought over from last year. If he should decide to have two outfields he has Tony Kaufman, a reformed pitcher, Art Veltman and Chick Fullis to complete the array of talent.

Another player who may have a place for himself as a utility man is Pat Crawford, the tar heel football and basketball star, who did great work at first base at Toledo last year. For much of the season Crawford's batting was a sensation. The North Carolinian has played third base as well as first and his neighbors say he asks only "What have you?" in the way of position.

The pitching staff may be built around Larry Benton, Virgil Barnes, Fred Fitzsimmons, Joe Genewich, Bill Walker and Jim Faulkner, with half a dozen other moundmen purchased from the minors. Two of the newcomers, Kelly, late of Memphis, and Ogden from Buffalo, won 21 games each last year while losing only ten.

The catching trio of Hogen, O'Farrell and Cummings may grow to a quartet by the addition of Cracker Schalk, former White Sox manager, who will be coach and assistant to McGraw but is still an able and smart receiver. Schalk certainly will be carried on the active player list until June, and perhaps longer.

Bert Niehoff, who once before was on the Giant payroll and played with the Phillies in a world series, is the other new coach. Niehoff, for years one of the most crafty of minor league managers, came back to the majors as a coach for the Giants in preference to managing lower down in the scale.

His services should be especially valuable in the spring when untold players from the minors are being put through their paces at the San Antonio training camp. The Giants have also changed camps and have finally returned to Texas after a trip in Georgia on the way from Florida.

HAKOAHs TEAM TO TAKE ON N. S. SENIORS TONIGHT.

The Hakoahs of this city will play the Kingston High School Senior basketball team tonight at Salvation Army Hall, North Front street. It is expected that the game will be a very interesting one.

The high school team is leading in the Inter-Class League and holds a victory over the Faculty team. The quiet plans on displaying its usual good brand of basketball tonight. The Seniors lineup has not been given out.

For the Hakoahs, Cohen, Sussin, Perlman, Bahl, Goldfarb, Toffel and Spivack will be ready to take the floor. These boys are well known to local basketball fans for their actions on the court and it is predicted they will give the schoolboys their hardest battle of the year. Their game tonight is to get them in shape for a tilt with the celebrated Y's Men's team at the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday.

Teams wishing games with the Hakoahs may arrange them by phoning 2519-J or 1012-J at 6 p. m. any day.

Cheese as Staple
Cheese is regarded as the staple food in many countries because of its high nutritive value. It is especially rich in vitamins A, B and C. In Switzerland it is consumed almost universally because of its protein content, which exceeds the protein of average meat and is twice that of eggs. Its caloric value is greater than that of any other food, except perhaps nuts, butter, oil and very fat meats.

Prefers Men of His Own Style

WHETHER Tom Heeney, sturdy New Zealand fighter, who was the lower in Gene Tunney's last appearance at heavyweight champion, retires from the ring depends on his opponents more than anything else. Heeney said that he was very uncertain about continuing his ring career, but that he would like to keep on if he could fight only men suited to his particular style.

"I want to fight some more and then again I don't," Heeney explained. "My wife wants me to get out while I am sound in body and mind. I feel that I've fought them all. There's no new ones around for me to tackle and I have a little money. I'd like to get into some business which would bring me a satisfactory income. That's one side of it."

"Yet I'd like to keep on if I could fight men suited to me and my style. I don't mean that I want to pick opponents. But what I mean is to fight men near my own size and more closely related to me in style, fellows like Sharkey, Klisko, Paulino and Dempsey, any one of the four or all four of them. That would be better than if I fought somebody like Tunney, bigger than me and given to boxing rather than fighting."

Apparently discounting the possibility of wading through an elimination tournament to the heavyweight title, Heeney did not think much of the money to be won in the ring.

"I suppose I could earn about $40,000 in a year's fighting," he said. "And against this there is the idea of exposing yourself to injury."

Tom Heeney.

Cobb Will Aid Brownie Batters While Training

TY Cobb, the greatest player the game has ever known, will be in baseball uniform at the training camp of the Browns next spring, Dan Howley said.

"There won't be anything official about it," Howley said, "but Ty will be at West Palm Beach and will work out with the Browns. He is a good friend of mine and told me recently that he would be with us at camp. He will be able to help my hitters a whole lot I believe. It will be hard to keep Ty out of a uniform after his long career on the diamond."

Sporting Squibs

Indiana and Purdue battle annually for the old oaken bucket trophy. The trophy is just that.

Thomas A. Siano of Waltham, Mass., has been elected captain of the 1929 Fordham football team.

Walter Heinicke, Stanford center, called signals for the Stanford team in the majority of their games in 1928.

Though he has been at Iowa for several seasons now, Bert Ingwersen still is the youngest coach in the Big Ten.

Frank E. (Bull) Brown, of Pittsburgh, has signed a one-year contract to umpire in the American association in 1929.

Rilly Gibson, former manager of Gene Tunney, again announces his retirement from the ring—this time, he says, for good.

A giant tackle, Paul Jessup, 6 feet 7 inches tall, will lead the University of Washington football eleven through the 1929 season.

Bob Russell, quarterback of the Nebraska team of 1928, probably is the biggest quarterback of all time. He weighed 205 pounds.

"Mush" March, outstanding star of the Regina Monarchs championship hockey team, has signed a contract with the Chicago Black Hawks.

Joe Dugan has been given his unconditional release by the New York Yankees. Dugan probably will catch on with some National league club.

Frank Isbell, one-time White Sox second baseman and former owner of the Wichita club of the Western league, wants to get back into the game.

Reigh Count, champion three-year-old of the American turf and winner of the Kentucky Derby and other stake events, will run in England this year.

The Philadelphia girls field hockey team has never been beaten in inter-city play and two goals is the highest score ever made by an opposing team.

"Tam" Tarran, catcher with the Birmingham (Ala.) club, was operated on for appendicitis recently, the second time he has had this done in the last year.

Chick Meehan, coach at New York university, says that "when a team plays against a team with that fellow Harper on it, it has to play against ten men and a coach."

Fred Haney, third baseman, has been purchased from the Indianapolis American association team. It is announced by Clarence Lloyd, secretary of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Toledo of the American association has purchased Lou Brower from Oklahoma City, and Des Moines of the Western league, has bought Jimmy Cronin from Mission, Calif.

Game of Football Pays Debt on Ohio Stadium

Seven seasons of football at Ohio State university wiped out a debt of more than $1,750,000 on Ohio stadium. Now football has been given the ten-year task of raising another $1,750,000 to add other athletic plants to the campus.

Plans contemplate the erection of five buildings to harmonize with a new men's physical education building, an armory and an aviation hangar, financed by legislative appropriation.

The new units will be a vast men's field house, to cost $500,000, an intramural sports building, $500,000; a swimming pool, $250,000; a women's field house, $300,000, and a boathouse on the Olentangy river, to cost $100,000.

One hundred thousand dollars are to go for steel frames and glass to enclose the stadium, making it available for year-round recreation.

Natives of Guam Excel Marines in Baseball

The Chamorros, natives of the small island of Guam in the Far East, have become so Americanized since United States occupation in 1898 that they defeated a team of marines in a baseball game Thanksgiving day by the conclusive score of 10 to 3.

The most friendly rivalry exists between the sailors of the naval station, the 370 marines and the 15,000 natives. Many basketball and tennis sports are keenly contested. The greater strength and size of the Americans is pitted against the quickness and agility of the Chamorros.

The marines, while taking their defeat good naturedly, did not wish the details published.

Rugby Gets Too Rough for French Spectators

Rugby football has become so rough in France that newspapers everywhere have begun a movement to "clean up" the game. A match between Marmande and Bergerac has brought the movement to a head. A Marmande player virtually strangled the Bergerac captain, Beausoleil, during a game while thousands of spectators looked on. Beausoleil was carried off the field unconscious, with his tongue hanging out and foam on his lips, while Marmande roared howled. "Well done! Kill him!" Police had to be summoned to keep them from attacking the rest of the Bergerac team.

Edwin Kuback Is Named Head Coach at Centre

Edwin Kuback, who was graduated from Centre college in 1924, after playing in every minute of every football game for four years, has been selected as head coach of the Centre football team to succeed Boise Penholz, resigned.

Kuback, whose home is in Fort Smith, Ark., is now assistant coach at Texas Christian college. He played center on the famous Colonels team that beat Harvard. His appointment was announced in chapel by President Treck.

Three Games in Senior Sunday School League

Three games were staged in the Senior Sunday School League on the Y. M. C. A. court Wednesday evening. The Forfeits defeated Presbyterians, 45 to 24; Clinton Avenue beat Albany Avenue, 59 to 19, and Redeemers won over Port Ewen, 31 to 14.

The Trinity outfit was unable to play and a team named the Forfeits substituted and sprang a surprise by downing the Presbyterians, 45 to 24.

The Presbyterians, however, won their game from Trinity on a forfeit. In the game with the Forfeits the Presbyterians were outscored in both halves, the score at the end of the first being 24 to 12. In the second half the same amount was scored. Saulsbury was the leading scorer with seven field goals. Markle, for the winners, and Tongue for the losers, were second with six field apiece.

Clintons Win Easily.
The Clinton Avenue quintet had an easy time defeating the Albany Avenue five. The final score was 59 to 19. The winners got off to a good start and were never in serious danger throughout the entire game. The game at half time saw the Clintons in front of a 26 to 6 tally. Boyce was the leading scorer with 25 points.

Redeemers Win Game.
The Redeemer quintet beat the Port Ewen five, 31 to 14. In this contest the margin of superiority was in field baskets, 17 to 7, as neither team made a shot from the penalty line. Raichle and Fox for the winners scored eight points each for the honors.

Armory Card Upset Righted

Kid Reuffen to Take Samper's Place —New Judges For Friday's Fights —All Reserved Seats Not Sold.

The upset in the boxing card, scheduled to be put on at the local armory, Friday night, January 11, that was caused Tuesday by Jerry Samper's refusal to meet Joe Starr of West Point in a four round bout, was righted late Wednesday night when Jimmy Ambrose, matchmaker of the National Guard signed Kid Reuffen of Fort Slocum to mix it with Starr.

Samper, a Poughkeepsie pugilist, well known in Kingston, did not run out on Starr, but would not go on with the scrap because his physician warned him against entering the ring. Samper has been under the doctor's care for some time. Jimmy Ambrose promises that the refusal of the hard-punching Samper to go on with his match will hold no drawbacks for local fans. He has much confidence in Reuffen and considers him a formidable opponent for Starr.

Nick Zinna and Johnny Carpio, the two lightweights, who will mix it in the 10 round feature attraction for the championship of the Hudson valley, are set for their scrap. Today ended their training grind and each is in condition to give of his best to the large number of patrons expected to see the fight.

New Judges for Friday

Bill Singer and Fred Havighorst, who have been acting as officials for some time, will not judge the fights Friday. These two men were among those who thought it better to have new judges for the coming card owing to their intimacy with both contestants in the championship bout.

Captain E. C. Lawson, promoter of the bouts for the 156th Field Artillery, will have new judges, whose names will not be made public until Friday night. A request has been made to have George Heppner referee the bouts, and it is expected that he will.

Complete Card

The Carpio-Zinna attraction will be preceded by the following bouts: Charlie Molvin vs. Kid Rash, 6 rounds. Ron Van Buren vs. Buster Moore, 6 rounds. Frenchy Duwig vs. Albert Lamont, 4 rounds. Joe Starr vs. Kid Reuffen, 4 rounds.

Of course the reserved seats for the fights have been selling rapidly, but there are still a number of choice places of vantage to be had. If there are any fight fans who wish reserved seats and have not yet ordered them they are requested to phone the armory as soon as possible.

It is now in a thriving condition, with a population in the neighborhood of 70,000.

STOCK TICKER GIVES NATION QUOTATIONS

Marvel of Accuracy Broadcasts Market News.

New York.—The marvel which the stock exchange ticks on a term day is not apparent in the operating rooms of the Western Union, from where more than 5,000 stock exchange tickers in 200 cities, in 37 states and territories in this country and Canada are furnished with stock exchange quotations. A studied orderliness stands out from the noise and clatter of myriad telegraph apparatus.

To one who has stood over a stock ticker and watched it unrelenting quotations pour after hour without the slightest falter or hesitation the question, "How does it do it?" presents itself. One is forced to marvel at the manner in which stock quotations appear in a steady procession as well as the almost uncanny accuracy of the quotations received.

The continuous performance of the stock ticker is due in great part to the employment of the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." The ticker service is so regulated, so carefully guarded that a break in the mechanical operation of a ticker is rare. The circuits which carry the quotations are inspected, tested and watched over with persevering care by the maintenance department of the telegraph company. The accuracy of the ticker is due to the training of the operators who manipulate the sending apparatus. All quotations are sent out over a typewriter-like keyboard by operators who have been schooled in this work. Their accurate they are may be judged from the fact that in a recent twenty-eight day period, one operator depressed the keys of the sending instrument more than one and one-quarter million times without making a single misprint.

Handling Quotations.

Stock quotations go to the operating rooms of the Western Union over the exchange's own tickers, which also supply the offices of exchange members in downtown New York city, direct from the floor of the "big board." They are relayed by the telegraph company from two points. An office at 40 Broad street in the heart of the city's financial district, and only a stone's throw from the exchange, transmits quotations to New York city, New England and to practically all points east of Ohio and north of Virginia. From 24 Walker street quotations are sent to tickers in the South and West.

As the stock exchange ticker records the quotations at the telegraph company's office, the tape passes before a girl seated at a keyboard which resembles a typewriter keyboard. This operator merely types out the quotations as they are read from the exchange ticker tape. When a key is depressed it creates electrical impulses which in turn work the intricate mechanism of the ticker, resulting in the printing on the ticker tape of the letter or number controlled by its particular key. Only a few seconds elapse between the depressing of the keys in New York city and the imprinting on the ticker tape in distant cities.

To insure accuracy of all quotations, a ticker alongside of the sending operator records what has been sent and another employee compares this with what has been received over the stock exchange ticker.

Rigorous Censorship.

An interesting feature of the ticker service is the fact that the stock exchange exercises a rigorous censorship over ticker locations. Only those persons or firms which have been passed upon by this committee may rent a ticker carrying New York stock exchange quotations. This is done to keep quotations from bucket shops and from unscrupulous stock dealers and others who might use the quotations for illegal or unethical purposes.

While by far the greatest number of stock tickers are in the offices of brokers, with bankers taking second place, a goodly number of these instruments are in hotels and restaurants and in some cases in private homes.

Not only has there been a tremendous advance in the number of stock tickers in use, but today hundreds of brokerage houses have their own private leased telegraph wires for orders and executions.

Stock brokers are authority for the statement that their business could never be carried on over such a wide area and with such tremendous speed and accuracy were it not for the organization of the telegraph company. "We would be lost if it weren't for the tickers," one broker said recently. "This marvelous instrument is the eyes through which thousands of persons in all parts of the country view the stock market. What the ticker says is weighed in the balance by investors and speculators far and wide. Through the ticker service the man in San Francisco has just as much chance to keep authentically informed of the market as the man in Philadelphia or Boston or Brooklyn. Quotations reach the coast at practically the same time they reach uptown New York, and it is just as easy for a client to wire a trading order from Los Angeles as it is for a client to phone his order from Central Park West."

Not Easy to Renew Licenses

Drivers' licenses suspended or revoked by the state motor vehicle bureau cannot be renewed easily, contrary to general opinion. Charles A. Harwood, assistant secretary of the department, points out that complete and every application is closely checked. It is impossible for a person making a false statement to obtain a license.

With each suspension, a red card is placed in the file in the place of the original record. When an attempt is made to obtain renewal of a license, the applicant must show the renewal stamp attached to his original license. The red cards show at a glance whether the person has ever had a license. When such a card is found the license is refused and a way left open for the commissioner to bring charges of perjury against the person making a false statement.

Growing Family

The population of a muskrat farm has a yearly increase of about 60 per cent. These animals are significantly free from disease and their management is naturally provided for in summer and winter and there is little difficulty in raising them. The value of the pelts has bounded upward enormously in the past decade.

SPENCER'S BUSINESS SCHOOL STUDENTS ENJOY DANCE

The students of Spencer's Business School forgot their studies Wednesday evening and attended the annual dance sponsored by the school at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Nearly every member of the school and many of the alumni were in attendance. During the evening there were many friendships renewed and new ones created. The dance was an informal gathering of students and friends. The Night Hawk Club orchestra rendered the music which was greatly enjoyed by all.
